

Happy Readers

- We are a friendly, informal book group that meets in the Carnegie Lounge at Newbury Library on the third Monday of each month at 12.45 pm.
- We read a wide variety of both fiction and non-fiction books and take it in turns to prepare a short introduction, giving information about the author and a quick summary of the book. We then discuss the book, each giving our opinions (always more interesting when views differ!) and round off the meeting with tea and biscuits.
- There is a small annual charge to cover the cost of borrowing the book sets from the library, and to contribute towards the cost of hiring the room.
- The size of the group is limited to 10 members and is currently full. However, if you would like your name added to the waiting list, please contact the group leader or the u3a Office.
